Assistant Dean of Students' Recommendation:

The Financial Aid Office will consider extenuating circumstances if in the judgment of the Assistant Dean of Students they are warranted. Appeals will be evaluated on the likelihood that the academic plan for the student will ensure satisfactory or successful academic progress in the future and coursework outlined will remedy the lack of academic progress to date. Students should be advised that failure to successfully complete course work outlined in the academic plan indicated will result in removal of future aid and future appeals may be denied. Students may still attend without the benefit of financial aid but will need to pay out of pocket or borrow a private educational loan that does not require a student to be making satisfactory academic progress. Once a student can pass academic progress on their own, they can regain eligibility for federal financial aid.

Attach a copy of the student's academic plan. The academic plan must have an end date showing by when the student will be in good academic standing for continued aid eligibility.

Please briefly summarize what plans the student has discussed with you and provide any comments or recommendations that you think would assist the Financial Aid Appeals Committee in deciding. You may attach a separate document.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) Guidelines

To receive and remain eligible for Federal Title IV and institutional financial aid, students must progress toward the completion of their program of study at a rate that will ensure graduation in a reasonable length of time. Widener University Commonwealth Law School has established a policy that measures academic progress both quantitatively (credit hours) and qualitatively (grades) at the end of each academic year.

Students must meet the following minimum academic progress standards to receive Federal Direct Loans, Widener Law Commonwealth Institutional funds, and/or participate in the Federal Work-Study Program. Satisfactory academic progress is measured at the end of each academic year for students in the JD program. The academic year consists of summer, fall, and spring. Therefore, the Financial Aid Office will review satisfactory academic progress after spring grades have been received and verified by the Registrar's Office.

Students who do not meet the minimum standards will be contacted by email using their Widener email address. Notification will outline student options to re-establish eligibility, such as attending subsequent classes or submitting an appeal for a waiver by a specified date.

Quantitative Measurement

Students must complete at least 60 percent of the total credits attempted while enrolled at Widener University Commonwealth Law School. Successful completion is based on the percentage of the total (cumulative) credit hours attempted compared to the total credit hours completed. Earned credits for a course cannot be counted more than once. Grades of "I" (incomplete), "W" (withdrawal), "F" (failure), "NP" (no pass), and "Z" (no grade submitted) count as credits attempted but do not count as credits completed. Transfer credits must be treated as both attempted and completed credits to measure academic progress.

Qualitative Measurement

Students enrolled in the JD program must achieve a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 2.00.

Maximum Time Requirements

The maximum period to complete the credits required for graduation is measured from the date of matriculation. JD students must complete their degree requirements within 84 months (about 7 years) of matriculation. Matriculation shall mean the date on which a student first begins legal studies at any law school accredited by the ABA, not including a Trial Admission Program.

Questions regarding SAP should be directed to the Financial Aid Office.
